"I want this grass installed in my yard"

Versatile Grass Inc. boasts a huge portfolio of dramatic and wonderful Canadian grass installations. Remember that our grass is but the final finishing material for your project. [Think about it this way: it is akin to carpeting in your home ... you first need build the home and rooms and subfloor, and only then at the end you install the finishing carpet]. Here is the proper sequencing:

(This is what you do to get ready)

think design

It is astute to ensure your yard is designed with a layout that meets your future expectations. Plan for trees, gardens, and decks. Plan in advance for patio stones, walkways, interlock, garden edging, lighting, and other creative elements before any finishing grass arrives, just makes good sense, agree?.

arrange
earth
shaping talent

There exists in every community a very large industry of local landscape professionals, gardeners, stonemasons, and handyman contractors that are eager to interpret your ideas and prepare your raw grounds. Logically, they have the specialty earth equipment, tools, and talent. And these local contractors are most likely your lowest cost service providers too. We ask just a few things of your advance ground prep team:

1

simple stone
base

We would suggest 1.5 to 2 inches depth of simplistic crushed screening-type stone base everywhere your new Versatile Grass is to be placed. (Virtually exact same simple common prep that they are familiar with for patio stones and interlock! They will not be alarmed or overfaced at all. Clients can also do this themselves as economy may encourage.) Logically, any existing old grass patches or vegetation intrigue should also be scraped away.

compacted

We ask that this crushed stone base be level and mechanically compacted (e.g. a vibrating plate compactor or very heavy roller, trying for 60-70%+ compaction), again a simple and normal ritual. Your new grass will "hug" exactly the finished ground base profile so be happy with your preparations!!

3

and leave a
"lip" too

We ask your contractor or yourself to ensure a minimum target 1.5 inch "lip" against all patio stones and decks, interlock, and garden edgings. This ensures a wonderful professional visual edge as your new Versatile Grass is final trimmed into place.

You are now ready to fit/ trim/ install your Versatile Grass panels.

Well done!
